Kigali International Journal of Education (KIJE)

UNIVERSITY OF KIGALI
SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

Theme

Quality and Quality Assurance in Education: Multi-Level Analyses

Rationale

Quality education and the mechanisms for its assurance are critical ingredients for preparing young people for economically productive, socially responsible, and globally competitive futures. As debates about educational quality continue to expand across local, national, and international contexts, this inaugural issue of KIJE seeks to contribute to these discourses by providing a platform for robust scholarly engagement. The journal invites contributions that offer empirical insights or theoretical/conceptual analyses into the complex dimensions of quality and quality assurance in education.

Indicative Thematic Areas

Submissions may be aligned with (but are not limited to) the following themes:

- Conceptualising quality and quality assurance in education
- National, regional, and international mechanisms for quality and quality assurance
- Historical perspectives on the quality of education
- Curriculum-level interventions and reforms
- Resource-based and pedagogical interventions
- Consequences and impacts of poor-quality education
